Taj Hotels

- Overview of Taj Hotels and its legacy in the hospitality industry.

Introduction

- Taj Hotels is a luxury hotel chain owned by the Indian Hotels Company Limited (IHCL). It was founded in 1903 by Jamsetji Tata and is known for world-class hospitality.

History

- The first Taj hotel, The Taj Mahal Palace, opened in Mumbai in 1903. Over time, the brand expanded across India and internationally.

Services & Features

- Taj Hotels are known for luxury rooms, fine dining restaurants, spa services, conference halls, and exceptional customer service.

Conclusion

- Taj Hotels represents Indian luxury hospitality worldwide and continues to set high standards in the global hotel industry.